

Microraptor

Caption: This model of Microraptor gui, a primitive birdlike dinosaur, with long feathers, identical to those of flying birds today, trailing from its four limbs and tail provides further evidence of the link between dinosaurs and birds. Modern birds share more than 50 anatomical features with tyrannosaurs and Velociraptors, including a wishbone, swiveling wrists and three forward-pointing toes.

Photo credit: Photo by Dennis Finnin © American Museum of Natural History

